The thanks of the art loving as well as the untravelled part of the community are due Mrs. M. L. Gans for her delightful entertainment at Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. Her lecture on the Hall last night. Her lecture on the Rhine was full of descriptive beauty, and its stereopticon pictures fascinated the eye. These last covered the entire route of tourist travel along Germany's castled and storied river, and were ac-curate specimens of the photographic art, some of them tinted with nature's own colors. Mrs. Gans' next lecture will probably have Paris for its theme.

until they come to actual laboring men, they are too lavish. Even the soldiers get too much, but the policemen do not get enough. We all know that in some instances, for some inscrutable reason, enemies of the Government have been getting princely pay from it for doing next to nothing. But the cheese knife@must fail. We are facing a condition and not a theory. I haven't heard about the President's $1000 a month, but everything else must be drawn through the shrinking process.

"I'll wager there are some interesting sessions of the Cabinet over this question. Mr. Damon will cut the pace and force the fighting. It is notorious that he never has things his way antillable. Mr. Smith believes in fancy salaries. The President wants to do what is right and Mr. Hatch is open to conviction. When it gets before the two Councils the proceedings will be lively as a keg of malls falling down a stairway.' Some of the statesmen in the lower branch will be between the devil and the deep sea as it were. Those who have political ambitions will be in the center of the trangular fire of old necessity, the men in the officer-and the men who want to get in.
